Sharon Vogt logged another dozen members plus guest Jim Burns from the Dansville club. Since we were still very short of a quorum, the board of directors meeting was postponed again.

We started with coleslaw and buns. It usually indicates fish but last week they had us fooled. It was hot roast beef sandwich with gravy over mashed potato and corn on the side. (Normally, we wouldn't have a bun with the salad.) The dessert was a complicated, but delicious affair. I recognized chocolate pudding, and there was some kind of biscuit underneath, etc.

Marty had celebrated a birthday, #64 in succession, and we sang respectfully for him, - two bucks worth.

It was good to see Bud StGeorge back, especially when he offered up two bucks for his missed meetings.

Bo tossed in a happy dollar for the parliamentary election in Sweden, which had ended with an unusual defeat for the socialist block over the weekend.

Sharon Vogt tossed in a happy one for helping Peter celebrate a birthday.

George Smith gave us a buck for a missed meeting, - make up online.

Business

Obviously the big item on the agenda was the Cohocton Fall Foliage Festival. Tom Didas has taken the lead on this, and made great progress.

The difficult problem of food ordering amounts appears to have a good solution. We can largely eliminate risk by buying from the booster's club. The slightly reduced profit may well be worth it.

Tom has ordered a tent. We need to get three grilles installed and 8 tables. We can apparently also use refrigeration facilities from the booster's club. Soda and water remain to be purchased.

Don Griffing was on hand, and took ownership of the "Oratorical Contest." Pat gave him the latest updates. Don has an idea of some students whom he will contact directly.

There were some questions about the school band and the Halloween Parade. Cuts? Let's hope not.

50/50 ended up in Tom Didas' hands again. He's the new George?

Next meeting has a program about education at Livingston County Jail.
