Another Teaser For Summer?

The weather finally seemed to have stabilized after all the miserable stuff we had experienced the last few weeks. We had some very tanned faces around the table. You don't get that kind of radiation damage up here, so fines would probably be considerable.

The Miller House served a real winner last time. Grilled steaks with fried potato, au jus, and a side of green beans. For dessert, we had chocolate pudding over angel food cake, and a dollop of whipped cream with chocolate sprinkled on top.

Janine Miceli had spent two weeks in the Dominican Republic with her family. It had done her very well, I think. What a tan! They were there for the Easter celebrations, which apparently are taken very seriously by the locals, and went on for two days straight. They were also able to crisscross the area on rented ATVs. No licensing issues. The fine was $5.

It was good to see Roy Robinson back again after several months in Florida, avoiding all the snow and cold we had up here, arriving only last night. As is customary every year, he failed to convince us that visiting an additional home shouldn't be subject to a fine. $5.

We were also privileged to sit with the winner of the Early Bird Special drawing at the annual Lions' dinner/lottery affair. He won $350, but had to spend $200 on the tickets. Five bucks appears to be a ceiling, which Pat has for the fines. Well, if he wins the grand drawing later, we'll see. (Marty also has hopes to win that!)

Marty Kimmel had gone to one of the biannual train shows in York, PA. He was particularly pleased to have acquired a box car with his name on it, "Marty, Wisconsin Cheese." $3 thought Pat.

Rev. George Smith offered 2 happy bucks for planting ornamental trees in his yard. He was happy to give President Pat some programs for the future, which JoAnn had helped him round up.

Business

Don Griffing was able to find a RYLA candidate, Amy Quanz. We voted and on, and passed spending $425, I think it was, on this excellent opportunity. We hope she will be one of the 25 limit group.

We vote on the Theater Group issue next meeting. Refer to separate mailing. Call President Pat if you can't attend. We'd like a widely based vote.
