A Dam Report

Some of the members must have taken advantage of the Holiday in a way that made them miss the meeting. Only eleven of us regulars showed up.

The tossed salad with buns promised that we wouldn't be subjected to a pasta two meetings in a row. Oh yes, it was much better, the famous meatloaf with mashed potato, gravy and corn. It was followed by cheese-cake topped with cherries.

Tom Quinlan rarely passes up an opportunity to confess. He went down to Florida for a week, this time trying the car train from Washington, DC. Mary and a granddaughter went with him. Tom bought another condo there, and now has to unload his old. It's still on Emilia Island. Pat fined him $3.

Don didn't realize that Pat was in the $3 mode, and thus confessed to an acquisition that we normally wouldn't think warranted a fine, - three piglets. The dollar/pig seemed stiff compared to a condo in Florida fine just levied

President Pat then tried to fine herself $3 for a trip to Massena, NY, over the weekend. Wait, you can't do that. A past president should do it. How about Don? Sure, it became $5, including Pat's driver. She should have tried p.p. Bo instead.

Art Traphagen threw in a happy buck for avoiding by five minutes to be hit by a car in Rochester, when it tried to convert a shop to a drive-through variety. Eight people had to be sent to hospital as a result of this unannounced construction.

Sharon Vogt gave us another happy buck, and Tom Didas had a sad one. He and Helen had installed their youngest at college, Nazareth, and are now alone.

Business

President Pat passed around a Thank You letter for the thesauruses from the administration at WCCS. Color pictures were attached to the letter. Very nice!

President Pat and Bob Oswald gave us a mini program from the Dam meeting at Mt Morris. They had taken the promenade tour under "Ranger" Bob's leadership. He is a volunteer coordinator there. It had been a very nice evening. Bob offered us to conduct another tour, just call him.

In two weeks we hope to have a program about the Livingston County Jail.
